

NAT'L UNEMPLOYMENT CONFERENCE RECOMMENDATIONS ASK ALL TO AID

Mayor Canfield Sends Them To Board of Public Works—Ask That Civic and Private Repairs and Improvements Be Started So That Work Instead of Charity May Be Provided—State Conference Next Wednesday.

Mayor Canfield has sent the following communication to the board of public works in relation to requests from President Harding, from Herbert Hoover and from Governor Miller that Kingston takes some action in cooperating with the state and federal authorities in meeting the unemployment situation and in the prosecution of the initiative and prosecution of public works:

"I have received a communication from the president asking our city to cooperate with the state and federal authorities so as to secure unity of action in meeting the unemployment situation. In this respect, our city, as well as every state and city, is urged to initiate and prosecute at this time all public work, including repairs, sewers, park improvements, buildings and crossing eliminations, which it is intended to do within the immediate future.

"I have also received communications from Herbert Hoover, who had charge of the president's unemployment conference just held in Washington. The conference found that there are from three and one-half to five and one-half millions unemployed, and over ten millions are dependent upon them. They also decided that the responsibility is upon each community. They formed the opinion that public construction is better than relief. They also proposed that the owners of private houses, hotels and buildings should contribute to the situation by doing their repairs, cleaning and alterations during the winter instead of waiting until spring when employment will be more plentiful.

"In this respect, all federal authorities, including the Federal Reserve Bank, were directed to expedite and aid in the construction of public buildings and public works and improvements. Also that congress and the various states make appropriations for road work.

"These activities are urged, notwithstanding that the opinion prevails that there is a necessity for economy. It is felt that the great question of unemployment overshadows other things. "I have also received a letter from the governor in reference to the same problem. He refers to the report of the president's conference and the method of organization and the plan of action outlined. He states that the personnel of the conference adds weight to its findings and to the economic soundness of its recommendations.

"The governor emphasizes the recommendation that all useful public work be energetically prosecuted. He states that this course is being followed in state work. He further says that it is better to give employment than charity, and that every citizen who has work to do still renders a patriotic service by having it done now.

"The governor urges that a community committee be appointed regardless of existing local conditions, and that the plan of action recommended by the unemployment conference be put into execution. "There will be a state-wide conference at Albany on Wednesday next week, called by Governor Miller, and the state conference of mayors, for the purpose of presenting to the cities the reports from the national conference on unemployment, and the recommendations made by the state, and to discuss the unemployment problem. The governor will preside over the conference and Colonel Arthur H. Woods, who was appointed chairman of the sub-committee of the federal conference to confer with the mayors and other local officials about the unemployment problem, will present the report of the national conference.

"I present this statement for your information so that you may give it proper consideration in connection with your program and policy in reference to public improvement work. I also recommend that you send a representative to the said conference to be held in Albany, as much of the discussion will involve work and the attitude which each city should take in reference to same."

NEW HEBREW SCHOOL TO BE STARTED FOR UPTOWN CHILDREN

Will Be Located at Spencer's Business College, In Charge of Experienced Teacher—50 Expected To Attend Who Cannot Do So at Downtown School.

The long felt need of a Hebrew School for the children of the uptown Jews was filled Friday night when a group of representative Jews of the city gathered at the Abramowitz residence on Albany avenue and formed a committee to organize such a school. A thorough canvass uptown showed that there were more than 50 Jewish children who had no opportunity of getting a religious training, being that the Hebrew school in Rondout was located at too great a distance from the uptown section.

The following have volunteered their services on a committee to make the necessary arrangements: Messrs. Abramowitz, Cohen, Kanrowitz, Gasool, Ludwig and Kirschner. The school will be conducted at the Spencer's Business College on John street and will be in charge of a modern well-trained pedagogue. The fee will be five dollars a month for each child. Boys and girls ranging from 7 to 15 years will be instructed daily from 3 to 7 p. m. in Hebrew Biblical History, and traditional Synagogal music. There will also be a Sunday school for children from 5 to 15 years.

The registration of the children will be held at the Spencer's Business College on Wednesday, October 19th, from 3 to 4 in the afternoon. The regular sessions of the school will begin on Wednesday, October 26th.

After the school is properly formed a permanent Board of Directors will be elected from among the parents of the children attending the school. The Board will have full charge and control of the new Hebrew school, which will be conducted in the most up-to-date fashion and it is to be hoped that it will prove a valuable addition to Kingston's institutions of culture and education.

COUNTRY'S GREATEST RAILROAD STRIKE IS PROMISED FOR OCT. 30 BY TRAINMEN'S LEADER

NO IRISH PEACE SESSION TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—In the absence of a formal session of the Irish peace conference today, the Sinn Fein envoys conferred among themselves, meanwhile awaiting an answer from the message which was sent by special courier to Eamonn de Valera at Dublin last night. The communication was understood to have referred to Premier Lloyd George's question whether the Irish would consent to a continuation of the deliberations upon the basis that Ireland remain a part of the British Empire.

The delegates are maintaining the utmost secrecy regarding the subjects that have been discussed.

Men's General Chairmen Leave Chicago With Sealed Orders To Start Tie-up on One System and Spread It Over Nation—Executives Name Committee To Confer With Unions and Then Prepare Petition for Lower Wages To Be Followed by Reduced Rates.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—"We are going out on the greatest railroad strike the country has ever known, nothing in the world can avert it now," declared W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, as 500 general chairmen of the various railway brotherhoods convened today to discuss their action with regard to the railroad executives' defiance of their threat to strike against wage reductions.

The proposals of the railway executives for an immediate 10 per cent reduction in wages is responsible for the crisis, Lee said.

"It is a fight to the finish, for the life or death of our organization," Lee said. "Perhaps it is a fight to our death, for we are not going into it blindly.

"The leaders of the workers will leave Chicago today with sealed orders calling for a strike. As for the date, it already has been published and the beginning, as has been indicated, will be by groups—first one line and then another going out."

Lee's statement is the first official confirmation of the report that October 30 has been fixed as the date for the strike.

"The executives, as usual, are pulling the wool over the eyes of the public," Lee said.

While the rail union leaders are in their final councils here preparing for the strike, attorneys for the executives are drawing up the petition which is to be filed with the United States Railway Labor Board for a reduction in wages, in accordance with their decision yesterday.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Five hundred general chairmen of the various railroads of the country, representing a membership of 2,000,000, met here today to consider the challenge flung down by the Association of American Railway Executives which late yesterday announced it would ask the United States Railway Labor Board for immediate further reductions in the wages of railway employees.

The railroad executives made it emphatically clear that they were ready now to fight out to a finish the issue of lower wages. Many of the executives who met here yesterday frankly asserted that lower wages were the only thing that could bring about lower freight rates demanded by shippers without bringing bankruptcy to scores of railroads.

It was reported today the roads were planning to put into effect on their own volition a 10 per cent wage reduction without waiting for the labor board to act. This act is to go into effect, it is reported, as soon as the payrolls of the various roads can be readjusted. The railway labor board, it is pointed out, will be without jurisdiction until the issue has been brought before it through protests of the various unions.

No official announcement of this intention to put into effect an immediate blanket reduction was made before the executives adjourned their meeting but it was unofficially reported that tacit understanding to this end had been reached.

The curtness of the rebuff given the unions was emphasized by the early adjournment of the executives. A conference lasting many days with frequent interchanges between the railway heads and the union chiefs, had been expected. After deciding to ask for wage reductions and appointing a committee of five to confer with the union leaders, the main conference adjourned without awaiting so much as a report from the committee appointed to confer with the brotherhood leaders.

C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central Railroad; W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Lines; E. E. Gorman, president of the Rock Island; C. B. Gray, president of the Union Pacific; and Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, were the members of the executives' committee.

Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W. G. Lee, head of the Trainmen; W. S. Carter, head of the Firemen and Enginemen; L. E. Sheppard, of the conductors; and T. C. Cadden, of the switchmen, were labor's representatives.

The conference between these committees was brief and more or less perfunctory. The union men asked that the wage reduction of July 1 be cancelled and a pledge given that no further rate be inaugurated. This plea was denied.

STRIKE THREAT STIRS HARDING

President at Once Gets Labor Board and Interstate Commerce Commission Members Together and Issues Statement.

Washington, Oct. 15.—In the face of a threatened nation wide railroad strike called for two weeks hence, President Harding today took definite steps to break the deadlock between the railroads and their employees over the controversy of wage and rate reductions.

The president summoned into conference the members of the public group of the Railway Labor Board, the wage determining body, and personally conducted them to the offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the rate determining body, and after spending ten minutes with the two commissions, he left them together and walked back to the White House.

To all outward appearance the president shut the two commissions up together in a room and asked them to work out a solution for the rate wage controversy, which has brought the nation trembling on the verge of a disastrous rail strike.

Arriving back at the White House, the president caused the following statement to be issued:

"By invitation of the president Messrs R. M. Barton, chairman G. Wallace W. Hanger and Benj. W. Hooper, constituting the public group of the United States Railway Labor Board, came to the White House today for a conference with the president.

"Later the president went personally with them to the office of the Interstate Commerce Commission, for a continuation and expansion of the conference.

"The purpose of the meeting was a broad consideration of the possibility of an early adjustment of railroad rates and wages, in the expectation that it would contribute to the industrial revival.

"The railway labor board, created by the Cummins-Esch act, comprises nine members, in three groups of three each. The public group are named by the president, the labor group are named from a list nominated by the railway labor organizations; and the management group from a list of nominees named by railway executives.

"The board is authorized generally to deal with the labor, wage and working conditions that concern the employees of the railroads and is given, in some directions, rather broad powers. In asking the members of the public group to meet him, the president was moved by the desire to accomplish what he hopes may be important results as early as possible. Recognizing that the labor group and also the management group are in the nature of think tanks of the respective elements which they represent, the president felt that it was unnecessary to invite these groups because their attitude would necessarily be partisan in any consideration of wage questions. The labor group could be expected to advocate maintenance of the highest possible wages, while the management group could equally be expected to insist that wages ought to be reduced. It was therefore, the president's opinion that the most prompt and effective results might be secured by simply calling in the public group, which is concerned equally with the interests of labor, of management, of shippers and of the general community.

"The president has been impressed that a somewhat anomalous situation surrounded the relations of the interstate commerce commission and the railway labor board. The interstate commerce commission has very large powers through its control of rates, to determine what the revenue of the railroads shall be, while the railway labor board through its authority in the matter of wage determination has a very large power in determining the largest items of railroad expenditures.

"The president was, therefore, impressed with the desirability of getting these two highly potential bodies together and reaching something like a definite understanding between them. It is a fact, not entirely without interest, that these two bodies have never officially met together.

"For a long time, the attention has been given much attention to the problem of the railroads. In its largest relation it has been practically assumed on one side that the

TROOPERS HELP GAME WARDENS

Major Chandler has assigned patrols of state troopers to accompany game protectors through the hunting season and work under their direction in rounding up hunters who violates the game laws.

The Conservation Commission warns that many hunters are shooting killdeer or ringneck plover on which there is no open season at any time.

The ruffed grouse is especially abundant this fall in all sections of the state, this being attributed in large part to the work of the game protectors in killing off hawks, owls, foxes and other vermin. The season opens today as does also the season for cottontail rabbits and gray squirrels.

Reports of the commission indicate that more pheasants will be taken this year than ever before. Under the present law only male pheasants may be taken and these only during the last two Thursdays in October and the first two Saturdays in November and only 3 pheasants may be taken in a season.

The deer season opens in some parts of the state today but in Ulster it is from November 1 to 15 inclusive.

EVA SAMUELS FOUND WITH LEONARD LIVING TOGETHER IN WATERVLIET

Sergeant Hanley and Girl's Father Paid Midnight Call, Arresting Leonard on Abduction Charge—Both Brought Back Here—Were Married Tuesday.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Eva Samuels, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Samuels of No. 13 East Strand, who eloped on Sunday, October 11, with Archie F. Leonard, a bridge builder employed by Terry & Tench on the Rondout creek bridge, was cleared up early this morning when Sergeant Hanley of the local police department, and the girl's father, found the couple living as man and wife at No. 515 13th street, Watervliet, N. Y. Sergeant Hanley placed Leonard under arrest on a charge of abduction, and both Leonard and the girl were brought back to Kingston, arriving here about 7 o'clock this morning.

Left Home Sunday Morning.
From the story as learned Leonard and the girl had been on friendly terms for some time, and according to the information furnished the police by the girl's father, Eva had left home Sunday morning. She went with Leonard and they spent Sunday night at the Hotel Rosemont on Canal street, in the rear of The Freeman office.

Monday morning they drove to the West Shore station here in a taxi and left on the 11:10 o'clock train that morning for Albany. From Albany they went to Troy and from Troy to Watervliet.

Ask Police to Assist.
On Monday when the girl failed to return home Mr. Samuels took the matter up with Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, who sent out an alarm asking the police departments of other cities to pick up the girl on sight. While it was thought she had eloped with Leonard, no one was found who confirmed that fact.

Search Albany and Troy.
The police learned that Leonard at one time resided in Troy, where he has a sister living, and earlier in the week Sergeant Hanley and Mr. Samuels went to Albany and Troy, and made a thorough search, but were unable to find any trace of the missing girl, or of Leonard.

Chief Wood Got Tidbits.
Friday afternoon Chief of Police Wood received certain information that led him to believe that the girl and Leonard were in Watervliet, and he went for Mr. Samuels to come to the city hall, where the father swore out a warrant before Judge Schirick, charging Leonard with abduction.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Friday evening an automobile was secured and Police Sergeant Hanley and Mr. Samuels departed to Watervliet to the address that had been furnished.

nished. They arrived there shortly after midnight, and found the girl and Leonard living together as man and wife.

Sergeant Hanley placed Leonard under arrest, and both he and the girl were ordered to dress, and were then placed in the automobile and the return to Kingston made, arriving here shortly after 7 o'clock this morning.

Leonard Arraigned.
Mr. Samuels took his daughter home, but Leonard was left at police headquarters, and at 10 o'clock this morning was arraigned in police court before Judge Schirick.

The charge was read to Leonard and it was explained to him that the penalty, if guilty, was a term of not more than ten years in prison or a fine of $1,000, or both.

Leonard said that he desired to obtain a lawyer, and a plea of not guilty was entered, and the hearing adjourned until next Tuesday morning.

Bail Fixed At $1,000.
Judge Schirick fixed the amount of bail at $1,000. Leonard said that he did not know any one in Kingston who would furnish the bail for him, and he will remain in jail until Tuesday unless he can find some one willing to go on his bail bond.

Were Married In Troy.
In reply to questions by Judge Schirick the bridge builder said that he was 25 years old. He said that he and the girl were married in Troy on Tuesday, October 11, by the Rev. W. H. Hammerstein, a Methodist minister of that city.

Had Wedding Certificate.
Asked by Judge Schirick if he had a wedding certificate he replied that he had and produced it. It was one of the wedding booklets usually furnished to young couples by the ministers of the Methodist Church. It gave the bride's name as Evelyn Samuels and the groom's name as Archie Frank Leonard.

Believed He Was Over 18 Years.
Leonard claimed that he did not know the girl was under age. He said that she had told him she was past 18 years of age, and that he believed her. When they obtained a marriage license in Troy he said his wife gave her age as 18 years last April, and that they had no trouble in getting the license.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE SUN.

"Some creatures," said Mr. Sun, as he sat back and talked to Mr. Dark Cloud.

"They think I can disappear if they want rain, and that I can appear when they want me to; whereas, as you know, I must do just as Old Man Weather says, though of course I can make special requests sometimes, but not too often."

"Now, I had something said to me only a few minutes ago which annoyed me frightfully."

"What was that?" asked Mr. Dark Cloud. "I'll punish anyone who said anything to you which annoyed you. Yes, I'll be so angry I'll burst and then I'll pour down my anger upon them, and my anger is very wet, unpleasant anger."

"You know I can do that!" said Mr. Sun, "but then if you did that you would be apt to pour down on the wrong person and that wouldn't do any good."

"But tell me what it was that annoyed you so?" asked Mr. Dark Cloud. "Well," said Mr. Sun, "I was just waiting about and not shining very much. I was chatting a bit with the King of the Clouds and I had not quite made up my mind what to do."

"I had been told by Old Man Weather that he didn't mind what I did."

"And you know I couldn't make up my mind. That happens sometimes, and I simply cannot make up my mind at all. Everyone is like that at times, wondering just what they will do or what they will not do. Making up their minds, in other words."

"As I was making up my mind I heard someone say something very rude."

"The person said: 'Oh, dear, why can't the sun come out and be a man?' And this person grumbled a great deal."

"Now, this person was a lady, and it seems she had been washing her hair. Of course, perhaps I may not be sympathetic and understanding because I never have to wash my hair, not having hair to wash."

"If I had hair to wash I might have been able to understand better what she meant."

"That is, I might have been able to excuse her rudeness with more ease."

"But to me she was very rude. It is true, I suppose, I would have been a great help."

"But I just couldn't be after the way she spoke to me and of me."

"I saw her with her wet hair dripping down her back and over her forehead and getting down into the back of her neck, and pity almost came into my sunny heart, but then I thought how greatly she had annoyed me by losing her temper as she had, so I just came back here for a chat."

"If she had asked me without losing her temper I might have had pity on that dripping wet hair of hers. I still feel rather sorry for her. But I must punish her."

"She will appreciate old Mr. Sun more in the future."

"Yes, she will appreciate me more. And though I am such a sunny creature, I, too, like to be cheered up by a word of thanks and cheer once in a while."

"Well, maybe if her hair isn't dried I may still help her a bit," said Mr. Sun. "I'm still feeling rather sorry for her, for I did notice that she was wet, and the thought of it has somehow, stuck to my mind."

"Of course, when she was so cross she shouldn't have anything done for her, even now, but alas, and alack, those who should be punished often aren't, and those who shouldn't be often are."

"Perhaps I shouldn't have need the word 'often.' Sometimes is better."

"But I did feel sorry for her with the water trickling down her back," said Mr. Sun. "And Mr. Sun left Mr. Dark Cloud and went back and dried the lady's hair."

Particular. Dickie's father was shocked to see his son kick the little playmate.

"Why did you kick John?" he asked severely.

"I am tired of playing with him. I want him to go home," was Dickie's answer.

"Then why didn't you ask him to go home?"

"Oh," it was Dickie's turn to be shocked, "why, daddy, that wouldn't be polite."

A CITY'S BUSINESS.

With the growth and development of American cities the fact has been realized that a city to succeed must have its affairs administered with the same thoroughness and care that any large business enterprise requires. A city's business is of vast importance, for on its proper management depends the growth and development of the city. Kingston has been rapidly advancing in the past quarter century and today to carry on its work for the best interests of its inhabitants it requires skilled men in charge. The Republican party, realizing that fact, has selected Walter P. Crane as its candidate for the office of mayor. The office requires the services of a man who is both practical in his ideas and who believes in the future growth of Kingston. Such a man is Mr. Crane. The voters will make no mistake this fall in electing him to fill the office.

AN EMBARRASSED HERO.

Sergeant Alvin C. York, after terrifying a considerable body of German troops by shooting, to kill and never missing his mark, captured 132 of them single-handed and left 28 of them dead behind him in the Argonne forest. The sergeant's astonishing exploit won universal admiration. General Foch pronouncing it the greatest individual feat of the World War or any other war. When he came home Sergeant York figured in ovation after ovation and was given an official reception by Congress. He declined to appear on either the lecture platform or in the movies and went quietly back to his home in Tennessee. Then his proud fellow citizens called for popular subscriptions to give him a farm in token of his state's appreciation and the sum of $13,000 was raised. Instead of purchasing a farm which that amount would pay for the mismanagers of the fund bought a $25,000 estate. So the substantial gift received by the hero was burdened with a $12,000 mortgage.

Now Sergeant York is embarrassed because he has not the wherewithal to meet $5,000 of mortgage dues which must be paid soon if he is to keep his hold on the gift-farm. The Tennessee Society of New York announces that it will receive popular subscriptions to pay off this first mortgage. Can the prosperous people of Tennessee, without blushing, permit New York to be asked for money which they ought to be proud to raise themselves? Verily this after-war reaction is a curious thing. If the gallant and far-famed Sergeant York can be brought to this, we need not wonder that ordinary doughboys who achieved no special distinction (but did their duty) are now out of employment and sleeping on park benches.

WHITE AND NATIVE MAJORITIES.

The old fear of a vast increase in the negro population, with embarrassing or calamitous consequences, is again shown to be without basis. A generation ago the census figures in this connection caused much apprehension, especially in the south which held and still holds the bulk of the negroes; but for two or three decades the figures have pointed toward an issue much less disturbing, and the figures for 1920 seem to leave no cause for further uneasiness. The negro birthrate is still large, but is more than offset by the death rate. The showing of a 6.5 per cent increase of negroes, as compared with an 18.1 per cent increase of native whites of native parentage, indicates that under modern conditions the black man is steadily falling behind numerically.

The figures also indicate that this country is not in danger of being "swamped" either by the darker races or the white foreign elements. In 1910 of the total population of 91,972,266 the percentage of white people was 88.8. In 1920 of the total of 105,710,620 the white percentage was 87.7. Of the white race, 74.3 per cent in 1910 and 74.7 per cent in 1920 were native born. The foreign born in 1910 were 25.7 per cent; in 1920, 22.3 per cent. Whites of native parentage in 1910 were 74.4 per cent; in 1920, 74.3 per cent. Whites of mixed parentage also showed a slight gain in 1920. Thus larger families are indicated among native whites of foreign parentage than among those of native parentage, but the difference is not great.

In more particular form the increases are given as follows: white, 16 per cent; negro, 6.5 per cent; Indian, Chinese, Japanese, etc., 3.4 per cent; native white, 18.6 per cent; foreign born white, 2.8 per cent; native white of native parentage, 18.1 per cent; native white of foreign parentage, 21.5 per cent, and native white of mixed parentage, 16.3 per cent.

The figures clearly point toward white supremacy and even native born white supremacy as certainly permanent conditions, although among the native born whites the newer stocks may in great part gradually supplant the old owing to the tendency toward "race suicide" among the latter.

Printer Was Peevish.

Charley Harris, Ft. Worth, Texas, printer, got slightly peeved at a letter from a doctor who wanted bids on several thousand letter-heads, different sizes, different grades and different colors and wanted the printing form held standing. So Charley took his typewriter in hand and wrote:

"Am in the market for bids on one operation for appendicitis. One, two or five-inch incision—with or without ether—also without or with a nurse. If appendix is found to be sound, want quotations to include putting same back and cancelling order. If removed successful bidder is expected to hold incision open for about sixty days, as I expect to be on the market for callistopes at that time and want to save the extra cost of cutting."—Kansas City Post.

Buddhist Bible.

At Litang, about a hundred miles to the east of Batang, in Tibet, where there is a large monastery, and in the lamasery of Lunge, about 200 miles above Batang, in the Yangtze valley, the printing of religious books is an industry of importance. The Kanjur, which is the Buddhist Bible, and the Tanjur, its commentary, each comprising 108 volumes, are printed in the two lamaseries from blocks on which characters are carved. The blocks occupy many large rooms and the printing of one set requires the work of many men for many days. In Litang, until recently, there was a copy of the Tanjur which was written out by hand in gold and silver. The paper had first been lacquered with Chinese ink. The gold and silver blocks in which the characters were written were made by rubbing the precious metals on a rough stone and mixing the powder with glue water. It was destroyed a few years ago by Chinese soldiers who burned nothing of its value.

Fire Burns 120 Years.

Near Fort Norman, not far south of the Arctic Circle, fires have been burning continuously for more than 120 years. Men did not light them, nor does man tend to their burning. They feed on immense stores of lignite that, like some coal seams, have ignited spontaneously. Alexander Mackenzie, the explorer, first reported them in 1744 and at the same time he noticed that the heat from the subterranean fires had burned to a brick-red shade that outcrop along the banks of the river that he named after himself. In fact, the shale beds had been converted into massive red bricks. It is likely, then that the fires had been burning many years before Mackenzie saw them. Virtually all the explorers who have visited that part of the Mackenzie River Basin have noticed the underground fire, which makes themselves known by the huge periodic bursts of smoke.

The Angling Ape.

"The angling ape of Java," said a naturalist, "has bushy white whiskers. He looks like a little old man. This fellow derives his name from his habit of angling for crabs with his tail. A comical sight it is to see him at work. He sits down, and with a sad and anxious look, dangles his long tail in one of the numerous pools where crabs abound. He hasn't a great while to wait, as a rule, and, unlike some anglers, he always knows when he's got a bite. With a jerk of his tail he then whips his tail, with the crab landing on it bodily, out of the water. He dashes the crab against a stone and breaks its shell. Then he begins to eat. But the angling ape's meal isn't one of unalloyed enjoyment, for every minute or so he has to pause and catch his lacerated tail and whine over it plaintively."

Parents' Problems.

How can children be taught the right attitude toward servants? Children can best be taught the right attitude toward servants by observing this attitude in their parents, who should treat servants as courteously and as kindly as any other persons. Also, children should not be permitted to give orders to servants, this not being done in the case of other grown persons. In short, it should be made clear that the relation of the children with the servants should be the same as that they have with other groups—friendly, but respectful.

POOREST CROPS IN 20 YEARS

The growing season is now sufficiently far advanced to permit fairly accurate estimates of what the final harvest will be and a careful comparison of the official estimates with those for previous years shows that this has been the poorest season for crops in this state since 1900. According to John B. Shepard of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, hay, oats and barley, which together constitute about 76 per cent of the total acreage of crops in this state, have each given the lowest yields in twenty years. Pastures, which are a much more important item than they appear in most crop statistics, have averaged poorer than in any year since 1903. Cabbage and onions are also poor. Apples are scarce and grapes are giving the lowest yield in many years. In the higher portions of the northern counties where corn is little grown, farmers are hard pressed to find feed for their cattle. Corn, however, illustrates the relative security that lies in diversified agriculture, for the weather conditions which resulted in low yields of most other crops have caused the biggest growth of corn on record in this state, and full silos and the large quantity of grain and fodder left over after the silos were filled will considerably relieve the shortage of other feed crops. The prospective potato yield has increased from 84 to 92 bushels per acre. The present outlook is for a New York state potato crop of 23,000,000 bushels, which would be very nearly up to the average of the last ten years.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

The economic situation in England at the present time is one which appeals deeply to the thoughtful interest of the American traveler there.

The unemployment situation in England is serious, and the Government has been compelled to resort to numerous expedients for alleviating distress. It has built thousands of houses for working people in order to relieve the acute housing shortage, and one sees little sun-drenched offices in the factory sections of all the principal English industrial centers. The dole system is another relief measure. Persons who are out of employment are at regular intervals given a sufficient amount of money to enable them to eke out a livelihood.

At the present time the British Government is also considering the question of engaging in an extended program of public works in order to provide employment. Governmental support of the banks in a more liberal extension of credit to business interests is also under consideration. There is an aggressive back-to-the-farm movement also in operation and its efforts are, contrary to the implication of the name, directed mostly in keeping people on the farm rather than in sending them back to the farm. It has been brought out that the principal reason people leave rural districts is that they find these environments are dull and uninteresting.

especially for the young people, and efforts are now being made to establish various community agencies which shall furnish wholesome amusement for rural citizens and thus keep them from migrating to the cities.

The great lesson that one learns in England today is that there can be no permanent progress which is not founded on private initiative. Many of the remedial agencies that have been introduced can have only temporary effect. The foundation of national progress and prosperity is a combination of hard work and consistent thrift by the masses of the people. England will work out her problems and she will continue to be one of the great forces for human betterment, but she will find that complete rehabilitation will come only as her people are willing to work and save.

Hard work and systematic saving constitute the thrift that makes happy homes and sturdy nations.

HAPPENINGS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

The election of Athletic Association officers was held Tuesday afternoon with great enthusiasm being displayed over the casting of ballots. The voting was close and in few cases was any one person so popular as to obtain a white-washing majority of votes over an opponent. The officers are: Thomas Rowland, president; Miss Anne Byrne, vice president; Kenneth Davis, secretary; Miss Ruth Seigle, treasurer; Maurice Goecheus, boys' cheer leader; Miss Estelle Rodgers, girls' cheer leader.

Wednesday found the recitation rooms and corridors in silence as a legal holiday gave the students rest from their labors.

Elocution and public speaking are now taught to the seniors who, although not wildly enthusiastic over the ruling, are compelled to present themselves to the student body that they might see who's who in the senior class. Miss Carter, teacher of elocution and expression, is now superintending this work and producing satisfactory results.

Friday morning during assembly five seniors entertained with selections centering on Columbus Day. They were Miss Margaret Myer, Ernest Meyer, John Kleiss, Miss Phyllis Meyer and Miss Florence Gillett. Miss Margaret Myer was the "starter" with a clear, easy delivery of Butlerworth's "The Thanksgiving for America." Miss Myer's care free manner was indicative of hours of preparation. Ernest Meyer was second and his selection gripped his audience, for who is not acquainted with Miller's poem, "Columbus," about the dauntless mariner. In order to understand the pathos in this poem, expression is necessary. Mr. Meyer did the poem justice. John Kleiss is known by every student but nevertheless he favored them with Chauncy Depew's "Columbian Oration." Miss Phyllis Meyer contributed "Success," a Robert Service poem of great charm. Miss Meyer was able to treat the poem admirably, for she has written several splendid poems for the "Maroons" of recent edition. The final speaker was Miss Florence Gillett, who left no doubt in anyone's mind as to the significance of Van Dyke's "America for Me." Miss Gillett's poise and vivacity of delivery was highly commendable.

A lively get-together mass meeting was held Friday at the close of school in order to instill school spirit into the backsliders. President Tom, of the Athletic Association, presided and "kicked off" with the football song, "Stand Up and Cheer." Several of the students were called upon to address the students. Due to sudden sickness, Bob Cook, football captain, was unable to deliver his address.

President Muller, of the senior class, Donald Church, Coach McIntyre and coach Herman each took up a different phase of school spirit. Mr. Herman said that when he first came to Kingston High it was at dismissal time and students were stampeding through the corridors and everything was agog with excitement. From one of the study halls a muffled roar was issuing. He investigated and found a football meeting about to be called to order. It thrilled him and carried him back hundreds of miles to Iowa and the days when he was a participant in such affairs. Mr. Herman said that the place was afire with school spirit and of the proper kind. While walking away from the Newburgh-Middletown game last Saturday, Mr. Herman heard some students remark that this week's game with K. H. S. will see a different outcome and that Kingston will have to sweat to gain the coveted laurels of victory.

Several cheers were given for the team and each individual player, but when called upon to cheer for the scrubs and the coaches the students went wild and proved again to Mr. Herman that we have school spirit in K. H. S.

The scrub team deserves its place in high school football history, for it takes all kinds of grit to come out night after night with no better prospects ahead perhaps than a heartening slap on the back from the coach and a severe drubbing from the first team. Those lads have the good will of everyone, however, and next year will probably see these fellows on the regular line-up. The second team constituents are: Faulk, Caunitz, Harry Snyder, Seymour Goldberg and Harry Scheffel in the back field. On the line are Leonard O'Reilly, Cassidy, F. Burgerin, E. Burgerin, R. Maroney, Schmitt, Jack Palen, Messinger, Fred Anderson, A. Stumpf, Bruder and Eric Brown. Dressel's vest pocket edition. Efforts are being made to book games with the second teams of other cities and if Mr. Buley's efforts are realized some good play is to be expected.

Alaska's Fine Scenery. With the exception of a few areas in the Cook inlet region, the topography of Chugach forest in Alaska is exceedingly rugged, the mountains often rising abruptly from the sea. On Resurrection bay the towering peaks seem to reach into heaven. The timber line is usually at an elevation of about 2,000 feet; above this rise barren, glaciated peaks ranging from 3,000 to 2,000 feet in elevation.

Announcement was made by the University of Pittsburgh of the appointment of Edward Ray Weldlein as director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research. Mr. Weldlein has been acting director since the recent resignation of Dr. Raymond Foss Bacon. Mr. Weldlein first came to the Institute in 1916, as assistant director. Later he was appointed associate director. In March, 1918, he was appointed chemical expert for the War Industries Board. NEARLY RAN CAR INTO STORE

Joseph Meagher of Poughkeepsie, had an exciting time with his auto Friday evening about 8:30 o'clock, when he drove out of O'Neil street into Broadway and then ran the car head on towards the drug store of Charles L. McBride. The car ran up over the curb and onto the sidewalk and smashed the large plate glass in the McBride show window and damaged the wood work. Fortunately for Meagher his car first struck the brick pier that separates the drug store from the Davis market adjoining, the pier receiving practically the full force of the impact. Then instead of backing his car off the walk, Meagher turned the front up Broadway and ran about fifty feet on the sidewalk and then as he turned the car into the road he ran into the parked automobile of Fred Schantz, employed in the Davis market, damaging the Schantz car somewhat. It is said that the accident was due to the fact that Meagher had a young lady in the car with him and was learning her to drive. No one was injured. If the Meagher car had not struck the brick pier first it would have ploughed right on into the McBride drug store.

SHAKESPEARE IS ALL WRONG

Police Judge Ryles World Isn't Stage, After All, and Finest Woman Impersonator of Men.

Police officers and detectives can spot the shifty eye of a pickpocket, the heavy jaw of a stick-up man—perhaps—and the other peculiar physical characteristics of the male clan of crime. But it takes a policeman to detect suspicious characters by their dress. Police routine and discipline cannot, apparently, wear off the keen instinct of a woman for the style of a tunic, the set of a sash, and the hang of outer garments in the back.

Recently Bella de Turk walked down town. She got as far as the post office in doing this, probably passed some of the policemen who missed no sign of suspicious character in the passerby. But at the post office stood Mr. Delle Fisher and Miss Emily Green, policemen. The eyes of the policeman discerned at once that the figure of the gentleman walking by would have been set off to much greater advantage had he worn female dress. So they accosted him and found it was her. And Miss De Turk, dressed out in a man's cap coat and trousers and other apparel to match, rode a ride to the police station with Mrs. Fisher and Miss Green. There she refused to solve the riddle of her masculine attire and was released on bond.

"I am an impersonator of men characters," appearing at the movie theaters," she told the court. It then followed that she had neglected to change back into feminine dress after the show. Judge Berry fined her $25 and costs for the oversight and bade her remember that Shakespeare to the contrary notwithstanding, all the world's not a stage.

CULL AND BRILLIANT YOUTHS

Bright Boy Does Not Always Fill Expectations of Friends, While Stupid Lad Surprises.

An ex-headmaster of 25 years' experience has confessed that he was anything but a model boy at school.

He is not exceptional. Some boys who have no lack of brains have not the "examination mind," and in some the intelligence is too vivacious and original to be interested in routine work. There are boys who are really dull and will never be anything else, but there are also boys who are merely unconventional and boys who are apparently dull only because they are slow.

Human beings are like plants. It is not always the tree which grows and fruits the quickest that gives the best crop in the end, says the London Daily Mail. The brilliant boy does not always fulfill the expectations of his friends, while the boy who was supposed to be dull occasionally surprises everybody in after life because his mind was of the sort which takes a long time to mature.

No hard-and-fast rule can be laid down. But as Dr. Chalmers Mitchell has pointed out, it is a general rule in nature that the longer the period of youth the greater is the intelligence of the adult.

Power Tests Character.

Nothing stimulates real character like the use of power. It is easy for the weak to be gentle. Most people can bear adversity. But if you wish to know what a man really is, give him power. This is the supreme test. It is the glory of Lincoln that, having almost absolute power, he never abused it, except on the side of mercy. He spoke out to Indiana, not to oppress, but to convince. He was the embodiment of the self-denial, the courage, the hope, the nobility of the nation.—Robert Green Ingersoll.

The Chinese delegation to the Disarmament Conference is the first of the foreign delegations to arrive in Washington. They are, left to right: K. S. T'au, Ta Chen, S. M. Cheng, Dr. H. E. K. C. T'au, secretary-general, Dr. Y. S. Tasco and Y. L. Tong.

Emil Schutte, better known as the "Terror of Shalleville," is on trial in Middletown, Conn., charged with triple murder. Accused and deserted by his own family, Schutte entered court a broken man. All the bravado that had characterized the man, known in Shalleville and vicinity for years as a tyrant, deserted him as he was led to the bar to answer to the charges accusing him of the murder of Dennis Le Duc, a farm hand, and two members of the Ball family, of Shalleville. Schutte is said to have set fire to the Ball home and then shot Mr. and Mrs. Ball as they fled for their lives. The bodies, burned to a crisp were found in the ruins of the burned home the following day. His own sons gave the information that resulted in Schutte's arrest. The accused man was a grocer in Shalleville, and he lured over the town as did the feudal barons in the land of his Teutonic forebears. The photo shows Schutte.

CORNER-STONE CASKET DATA

English Historian Suggests Most Useful Things and Data to be Placed in Cavity.

The manager of a huge building that is being erected in England has, says the Manchester Guardian, been considering the idea of a foundation-stone casket to be imbedded in the great mass of ferro-concrete on which the building is to stand.
